Boating Regulations

Boating rules and regulations are enforced by federal, state, and local authorities. To help ensure a legal, safe, and environmentally friendly boating experience, please:

- Obey posted speed limits. Most canals and marinas have speed limits of 10 knots or less. When in doubt, slow down.
- Watch your wake. You are responsible for any damage or injury it may cause.
- See mooring lines in unfamiliar waters.
- Know the navigational rules of the road.
- Don’t mix alcohol and boating. More than half of all boating accidents involve alcohol.

Boater Education Law

To operate a boat with a motor of 10 HP or more, anyone 21 years of age or younger is required to either have successfully completed a National Association of State Boating Law Administrators (NASBLA) approved boating education course or a temporary certificate examination and possess boating education and photo ID cards. Exceptions include:
- I persons accompanied in a vessel by a someone exempt from the requirement and
- I persons who have completed an original course in another state, are visiting Florida, and are operating an out-of-state boat.
