Step-by-Step Instructions on How to Add New Sea Grant Titles to the NSGL Library System

1. Go to <https://eos.ucs.uri.edu/EOSWeb/>
2. Sign in using the user name and password assigned to your program
3. Go to Cataloging: Bibliographic File and click the add button (under browse search)

Please note: you have the authority to add new records only; you cannot edit or delete a record once it has been saved; it can still be viewed, however, in your program folder in Bibliographic Review prior to being approved and uploaded into the library catalog.

4. Click proceed button
5. Fill in form

* Indicates the field is mandatory. While only a few fields are mandatory, you are encouraged to fill in all the information you have on the document in the other fields. This will allow us to gather all the information needed to describe the item and it will also improve its retrievability during a publication search. If you don't have information for a non-mandatory field, please leave it blank. All mandatory fields must be filled in in order to save the record.

The record can be reviewed and printed from either location. Please notify library staff of any changes or edits that need to be made to the record.*

11. After completing online submissions, please send the required number of hard copies to the NSGL for inclusion in the archive and circulating collections . The number of hard copies depends on the document format and whether the NSGL is granted permission to make it digitally accessible.

Please note: Hard copies of reprints (peer-reviewed and non-peer-reviewed) and theses/dissertations are no longer required if a PDF is submitted to the NSGL to either make digitally accessible or electronically archive. If no PDF is submitted, then two copies are still required. For all other publication types, please refer to the following categories to determine how many copies to send:

Print/Hard Copy Only: Send two original hard copies if the item is available in print/hard copy format AND (1) is not available in digital format, or (2) you are supplying a digital copy for archival purposes only and not allowing the NSGL to make it digitally available. One copy will go into the archive collection and the other will be available to circulate.

Print/Hard Copy plus digital: Send one original hard copy if the item is available in both formats and you are supplying a digital copy that the NSGL may make accessible from its website. The hard copy you send will be the archive copy and the digital copy will replace the circulating copy and be digitally accessible from the NSGL website.

Digital Only: Programs no longer need to submit printed matter for documents published originally online and not available in print/hardcopy format. A URL, pdf, or other digital file must be provided, however, when submitting the online cataloging form and permission must be granted for the NSGL to make it accessible. If the item is available in print/hard copy from any source (program, publisher, etc.), the number of copies to send the NSGL must be determined by one of the categories above instead.

Please note: Commercially published documents (including journal reprints from sources that are not "open access") have copyright restrictions that usually prevent us from making them available online. Even though we cannot make these works digitally accessible, programs are encouraged to send a digital file, whenever possible, so that we can digitally archive ALL documents for preservation purposes.
